INTRODUCTORY NOTE

Under the provisions of Article 31, New School Code, the Governor and State Superintendent appointed the following State Committee on High School Text-Books:

Superintendent R. H. LATHAM, Winston-Salem, N. C.
Superintendent JOHN C. LOCKHART, Raleigh, N. C.
Principal G. B. PHILLIPS, Greensboro, N. C.
Principal A. J. HUTCHINS, Asheville, N. C.
Dr. E. W. KNIGHT, Chapel Hill, N. C.

This committee, after very careful consideration, filed its report on December 28, 1923, which was ratified by the State Board of Education on January 22, 1924, and thereby becomes the official list from which county committees will make their selections. I hope the county committees will make a thorough investigation of the books submitted and provide for the counties a list of books by which the counties will be willing to stand throughout the period of adoption.

A number of books are listed here that the State Committee thought would be suitable for junior high school use. You will note that no price is given for these books. In all cases where no price is given, the books are listed here merely as a matter of convenience for the principals and superintendents. The State Board of Education can not make contracts for junior high school books, as it already has contracts for elementary books covering the first seven grades, and a contract for high school books covering grades eight to eleven. Again, music is a new subject in North Carolina, and it was thought best to leave this as an open list.

I hope that the two superintendents having immediate concern with the county adoption will give special attention to the adoption and secure a list of books the use of which they can and will conscientiously enforce.

The contract with the publishers held by the State Board of Education requires the publishers to furnish the books to county boards of education at the given wholesale price f. o. b. publisher. No retail price is contracted for. The county boards of education should either handle the books direct or arrange with some responsible dealer to handle them at a retail price not exceeding fifteen per cent commission on the wholesale price.

We are presenting herewith two sections of the law that bear directly on the county adoptions:

Sec. 336. COUNTY COMMITTEE TO RECOMMEND BOOKS. The county board of education of each county shall, upon the recommendation of the county committee on high school text-books, every five years, except as hereinafter provided, adopt a county list which shall be made up from the State list of approved books provided for in the preceding section; and the said committee to select high school text-books for each county shall be composed of the county superintendent of public instruction, the superintendent of the largest city or union school system of the county, and three high school principals or teachers chosen from the different high schools of the county, to be selected jointly by the two above mentioned county and city superintendents, . . . and the county board of education shall adopt the list of books so recommended; and the county adoptions of high school text-books under this article shall be limited to the State list of approved high school text-books to be selected under the direction of the State Board of Education and published as provided in the preceding section: Provided, nothing in this article shall be so construed as to prevent the county committee on high school text-books from recommending the use of, and the county board of education from adopting, more than one book on a subject for use in the different types of high schools that may require books of greater or less difficulty, nor shall any high school be prevented from using necessary supplementary books.

C. S., 5724.

Sec. 337. TEXT-BOOKS ADOPTED FOR FIVE YEARS; EXCEPTIONS. The county board of education of each county at a regular meeting held between the first day of February and the first day of June preceding the expiration of present contracts, shall act upon the recommendations of the county committee on high school text-books, and shall adopt a list of high school text-books recommended by the said committee, under the provisions of this article, to be used in the county for the next five years; and when such county adoption shall have been made, no basal book or books, except those on the list adopted for use in the public high schools of the county for the next five years period from the time of an adoption, shall be used by any public high school of the county: Provided, that in adopting text-books of history and science, the committee may adopt and the State Board of Education may make contracts for a period of two years.

C. S., 5730, revised.

With these remarks, I herewith transmit the approved list of high school text-books to the county committees and to the county boards of education.

A. T. Allen

State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

HON. A. T. ALLEN,

*State Superintendent of Public Instruction,
Raleigh, N. C.*

DEAR SIR: The State Committee on High School Text-Books, appointed by Governor Cameron Morrison and yourself, herewith submits its report. We suggest the adoption of these books for a period of five years, except in the case of books in history and science, which we suggest be adopted for a period of two years.

Respectfully submitted,

R. H. LATHAM, Chairman;
JOHN C. LOCKHART, Secretary;
G. B. PHILLIPS,
A. J. HUTCHINS,
EDGAR W. KNIGHT,

Committee.

Supplementary List of English Texts

The State Commission, after very careful consideration of the matter, has been convinced that the choice of English and American classics should not be limited to an adopted list. The publishers will furnish catalogues to those who desire them, so that first-hand selection may be made. The following editions of classics are all good, as are many others which may not have been submitted:

Academy Classics (Allyn)
Arden Shakespeare (Heath)
Eclectic English Classics (American)
Graded Classics Series (Johnson)
Lake English Classics (Scott)
Living Literature Series (Gregg)
Pocket Classics (Macmillan)
Riverside Literature English Series (Houghton)
Scribner Series of English Classics (Scribner)
Silver Series of Classics (Silver)
Standard English Classics (Ginn)

Special attention is here called to the development by Scott, Foresman and Company of the very fine collection of classics and scheme of presentation of a course in literature, under the title of Literature and Life Series. This is printed in four books, one for each year.

The Century Company has printed a similar work for the third and fourth years of high school—Studies in English World Literature and a Study of Types of Literature.

History of Literature

Text-books in history of literature, used as a background for the teaching of literature, are very desirable and necessary. Where possible, several different texts should be available. The following books have been submitted and are listed without comment.

American Literature Texts

- Haney—The Story of Our Literature (Scribners).
 Long—Outlines of American Literature (Ginn).
 Metcalf—American Literature (Johnson).
 Pace—American Literature with Readings (Allyn).
 Painter—Introduction to American Literature (Sanborn).
 Payne—History of American Literature (Rand).

English Literature Texts

- Boas and Hahn—Social Backgrounds of English Literature (Atlantic).
 Long—Outlines of English Literature (Ginn).
 Metcalf—English Literature (Johnson).
 Miller—English Literature (Lippincott).
 Moody and Lovett—A First View of English Literature (Scribners).
 Neilson and Thorndyke—History of English Literature (Macmillan).
 Pace—English Literature with Readings (Allyn).
 Painter—Introduction to English Literature (Sanborn).

Combination Texts

- Tappan—England's and America's Literature (Houghton).
 Tisdell—Brief Survey of English and American Literature (Macmillan).

Junior High School English

Since there are some school systems now interested in the junior high school organization, and since English is one of the very important subjects in this type of school, it seems wise to submit a rather large list of suggested English books. In almost every case these books stress different points, thus teaching English from various angles.

- Briggs, McKinney, Skeffington—Junior High School English, 2 books (Ginn).
 Buhlig—Junior English, 3 books (Heath).
 Deffendal—Junior English Course, 2 books (Little).
 Hatfield and MacGregor—English in Service, 3 books (Doubleday).
 Hitchcock—Junior English, 2 books (Holt).
 Macdonald—Junior English, 2 books (Sanborn).
 Ward and Moffett—Junior Highway to English (Scott).

Literature

- Atlantic Prose and Poetry* (Atlantic).
 Davis—Modern Readings, 2 books (Heath).
 Elson-Keck—Junior High School Literature, 3 books (Scott).

Public Speaking

The increasing interest in public debate and speaking contests can be encouraged in no better way than by the use of some good text-book. The Commission suggests the following as guides in the work.

- Lockwood and Thorpe—Public Speaking Today (Sanborn).
 Shaw—The Art of Debate (Allyn).
 Shurter—Oral English and Public Speaking for Secondary Schools (Row).

Modern Literature

There seems to be a real place in the high school English course for work in various types of modern literature. The following submitted texts are good.

(a) DRAMA:

Smith—Short Plays by Representative Authors (Macmillan).
Webber and Webster—One-Act Plays (Houghton).

(b) PROSE:

Smith—What Can Literature Do for Me? (Doubleday).
Tanner—Essays and Essay Writing (Atlantic).
Thomas—Atlantic Narratives—Second Series (Atlantic).

(c) POETRY:

DeMille—American Poetry (Allyn).
Richards—High Tide, School Edition (Houghton).
Rittenhouse—Little Book of Modern Verse (Houghton).
Rittenhouse—Second Book of Modern Verse (Houghton).

MODERN LANGUAGES

Instead of giving a brief review of each text-book that has been listed, the committee wishes to state that it is very much more worth while to remind the teachers that they can secure a sample copy of any text from its publishers at any time. Personal inspection is very much more satisfactory than any one or two-sentence critique prepared by a teacher whose needs and outlook may be entirely different from the one interested in the new text.

Careful study and extended investigation has been made of the modern language problem and the following list of basal and supplementary books is suggested, with confidence that it has been well selected. An extended list of supplementary material has been listed in order to make it available for general use. In all these subjects the committee feels a certain freedom should be allowed in the selection of additional classics.

In selecting the French grammars from which the schools of the State are to choose, there have been listed some that are very simple, some that are more difficult and extensive in their treatment, some that deal with phonetics, and some that present pronunciation by relating it to the similar English sounds. Since the new edition of Meras' Le Premier Livre and Le Second Livre (American) give a simple treatment to phonetics, and since the Phonetic Chardenal (Allyn) includes an extensive presentation of phonetics, all of the grammars listed under the combination method deal with phonetics, except, of course, the old editions of Meras' grammars and the New Chardenal (Allyn), the Phonetic Chardenal (Allyn) is the New Chardenal (Allyn) plus a treatment of phonetics.

Of the grammars listed under Direct Method, only one deals with phonetics, and this is Camertynck's France (Allyn), which is an excellent beginners' book, made more attractive by its many splendid illustrations and pictures by means of which teaching by the Direct Method is made easier and more successful.

Most teachers using the Combination Method find that to break the monotony of grammar lessons and reading lessons, they need some attractive little book with many pictures and many practical vocabularies of words used in everyday conversations, to be used in a supplementary way for compositions and conversations. Under the Combination Method, the committee has mentioned such a list for those who have felt this great need.

In preparing the literature to be used, the committee realizes that it has omitted many splendid classics, but let it be noted here that the teachers are as free as possible in selecting just the reading material that will be best suiting to their own peculiar classes. In each year's course the purpose has been to include texts that present stories, drama, histories and material usable for a foundation for conversation, but any teacher desiring to use some other classics than the ones listed herein is free to do so. Allyn & Bacon, American, Ginn, Heath, Holt, Scribner, Macmillan, etc., are the many publishers from whom the classics may be secured.

In addition to the basal list of literature texts, there has been listed a rather extensive list of parallel reading texts. Since all the standard high schools are requiring one or two books read outside of class each semester after the first year, the purpose has been to supply a worth-while list of texts simple and interesting enough to fill this need.

German

Since German is beginning to be taught again in many schools of North Carolina, the course has been made more extensive and adaptable than the previous course was. However, there are many splendid readers and classics which might be very usable in many schools, which have been omitted.

Spanish

In presenting this Spanish course, it has been divided into a college preparatory and a commercial course. It seems that this division should be made in all classes, and hence there have been listed books appropriate for the demand. However, the grammars are not so classified, for it is true that every Spanish pupil has practically the same need for the fundamentals of grammar, regardless of whether his aim is a course preparatory for college entrance requirements or a course fitting him for commercial life.

Classics

Any standard edition.

Most of the publishers whose first-year books in Latin are listed above have standard texts in Latin Classics. Special attention is called to the New Latin Program (Scott, Foresman), and to a similar series by the American Book Company and by Allyn & Bacon.

Cassell's—Latin-English, English-Latin Dictionary (Funk & Wagnalls), $2.50 indexed and $2.00 unindexed, seems to be a useful book for the library.
